GAS EXPLOSION KILLS 5 ELYRIA, O., WORKERS

PLANT LEVELLED BY A TERRIFIC BLAST TODAY

1 MAN REPORTED MISSING, SEVERAL OTHERS ARE SERIOUSLY INJURED

EXPLOSION TOOK PLACE IN THE TIMM SPRINGS COMPANY PLANT

Elyria, O., Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—A gas explosion in the Timm Springs Company plant today levelled the plant and resulted in deaths to at least five employees.

Several other persons were in such serious condition they are not expected to live, while at least one man had reported missing.

The explosion came shortly after 7 A. M. Police reported that a watchman had detected gas in the building and had warned against anyone lighting a match but that one man had not been warned and entered smoking a cigarette.

Three women and a man are dying and at least one more is missing.

The dead:
Louis Butcher, 37.
John Raple.
Mike Swetz.

Unidentified man, about 30 years old.

Unidentified man, about 25 years old.

The injured:
Margaret Oltman; Mary Downs; Augusta Grennell; Sam Husted, plant foreman. All are at Elyria Memorial hospital in serious condition.

Myron Sossler, burns and cuts.

Elyria, O., Nov. 9.—A terrific explosion ripped the Timm Spring Company plant near here today, bringing death and injury and sending flames spouting to adjoining business houses.

Three bodies were brought to the Elyria hospital, J. R. Mannix, the superintendent, reported, and six others with severe injuries were there.

Reports from the plant said that it was feared there were several other casualties.

T. L. Wise, living across the street from the plant, said he had seen six men carried from the building.

He also said several nearby houses were afire.

The plant employs more than 50 men. It manufactured door springs.

Because of the early hour many of the men had not arrived for work. This was believed to have cut the loss of life.

All of the dead were burned almost beyond recognition and the task of identifying them was difficult. The bodies were in weirdly distorted positions.

The blast levelled the brick and steel plant as though it had been smashed to bits by a bombing squadron.

The detonations could be heard for 10 miles. Walls in adjacent buildings were caved in and in an area of one mile around the spring works glass was shattered.

The Timm works would have been filled with 35 men and women workers who were due at work at 7 A. M., had the explosion occurred 15 minutes later.

The blast was believed to have been caused by gas leaking from high pressure gas lines installed in the plant yesterday to feed a battery of new boilers.

Sam Husted, day foreman at the plant, near death in Elyria Memorial hospital, told how he approached the plant to go to work. He was walking with four other employees. Husted said he opened the door and smelled gas. Then he saw one of his men light a cigarette.

"Don't light that," the foreman yelled. "You'll be blown to hell."

The warning was too late. Flames shot skyward. The exploding gas roared. The building trembled and splintered.

Mrs. John Horvath was in bed with her baby in her home not far down the street. She was thrown to the floor by the explosion. She said she was seized with the terrible fear of death as she saw the walls of her home buckle under the concussion.

"It was like a giant clap of thunder," explained Mrs. Oretta Taylor, who lives around the corner from the Timm plant.

The first battalion of the 145th infantry under Lieut. C. L. Wise, was called out to help locate bodies.

The infantrymen also strained to hold back the crowd that surrounded the piles of wreckage where the spring plant had stood. Women were weeping, gasping and crying out names.

The fire was quickly extinguished as it did not spread from the Timms plant wreckage.

It was the hardest blow which has struck Elyria and environs since the Lorain tornado five years ago and the deepest tragedy for this section since the Cleveland clinic disaster several months ago.

Elyria, O., Nov. 9.—Five men were killed and three men and two women probably fatally hurt today when a terrific explosion wrecked the plant of the Timms Spring Company here.

The disaster proportionately was as devastating to Elyria as the Cleveland Clinic explosion of last May was to Cleveland.

The Timms one-story brick and steel building was completely levelled

Cushing Farmers State Bank Robbery Solved

FOR SALE: ONE UP TO DATE VILLAGE IN CORN BELT

New Boston, Ill., Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—For sale: One up-to-date village in the heart of the corn belt, comprising general store, drug store, barber shop, pool hall, community building and 53 acres of surrounding farm land, to be auctioned to the highest bidder Nov. 14 by John Bishop, owner.

Such are the glaring bills which have been nailed on telephone poles for miles around to tell of the sale of Eliza, a prosperous little town of 250 inhabitants located ten miles from here.

The placards go on to say that Eliza is connected to other towns by good hard roads, has fine schools and is a good buy for some financier or group of men seeking the unusual.

Villagers are awaiting the result of the auction with some trepidation as it may mean the end of their town.

PANTAGES IS SENTENCED TO SAN QUENTIN

SUPERIOR JUDGE CHAS. FRICKE SENTENCES SHOW MAN TO
"NOT MORE THAN 50 YEARS"

JUDGE HAD PREVIOUSLY DENIED
PANTAGES' PETITION FOR A NEW TRIAL

Los Angeles, Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—Alexander Pantages, multi-millionaire theater man, today was sentenced to San Quentin prison for "not more than 50 years," as a result of his conviction on a charge of assaulting 17-year-old Eunice Pringle.

Before passing sentence, Superior Judge Charles Fricke denied the show man's petition for a new trial. He also refused an application for probation and a request for a stay of judgment.

Attorneys for Pantages said the case will be appealed to a higher court.

Pantages, however, won the right to temporarily remain in the county jail here when his attorneys filed notice of appeal and filed a writ of probable cause.

Under this action the theater man cannot be removed to San Quentin until the appellate court has ruled on his case.

Pantages stood with his head bowed and his eyes down as Judge Fricke ordered him to the penitentiary.

Around him were members of his immediate family and friends.

Pantages was not visibly affected by today's rulings.

He merely seemed to sulk as he heard Judge Fricke say: "I sentence you, Alexander Pantages, to the state penitentiary for the period prescribed by law."

The prison term was mandatory under the wording of the verdict returned by the jury which heard evidence against Pantages.

The jury recommended a prison sentence and at the same time suggested leniency. Judge Fricke pointed out that by such a verdict Pantages could expect leniency only from the prison board.

Los Angeles, Calif., Nov. 9.—Alexander Pantages, former Klondike figure and now a multi-millionaire, today asked Superior Judge Charles Fricke to grant him a new trial on charges that he attacked Eunice Pringle, a 17-year-old girl who sought work on his vaudeville circuit.

Through his attorneys he complained bitterly that his conviction last month had followed irregularities in the jury room, misconduct on the part of the district attorney and public opinion hostile because of his wealth and the nature of the charges.

Dist. Atty. Euron Fitts demanded that Pantages be sent to prison for one to fifty years as the jury's verdict automatically recommended.

11 FISHING BOATS ARE OFF TO AID SHIP IN DISTRESS

La Coruna, Spain, Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—Eleven fishing boats left here today to aid the Spanish steamship Maria Victoria, which was in distress off the coast. Fear was expressed that the vessel already had sunk.

The steamship Alfonso XIII was attempting to penetrate a thick fog to the assistance of the Maria Victoria but lost radio contact with the sinking vessel.

First radio advices said the Maria Victoria had run aground and was in a dangerous condition.

when a workman entered the gas-filled building and lit a cigarette. Flames shot 100 feet from the structure as bricks and machinery were hurled in all directions.

General Business On Sound Basis, Retail Business Good, Active Holiday Trade Dawns

VARIOUS FEDERAL RESERVE AREAS MAKE REPORTS

MOST SECTIONS NOT AFFECTED
BY DECLINE IN STOCK
VALUES

NOTE OF CAUTION IS EVIDENT,
HOWEVER, IN THE STEEL
TRADE

By RICHARD L. GRIDLEY
(United Press Staff Writer)

New York, Nov. 9.—The unprecedented collapse in stock exchange values in the last few weeks finds general business still on a sound basis and the nation's banking institutions well fortified to withstand any further possible slump, a countrywide survey by the United Press indicated today.

Reports from various federal reserve authorities show that most sections of the country have not been affected by the decline in stock values and that business leaders are looking forward to an active Christmas trade.

A note of caution is in evidence in the steel trade, however, which may adversely affect the business structure during the next few months. Nevertheless, there is little doubt but that 1929 will set records in industrial and commercial activity despite a possible slowing down during December.

Dividend disbursements during 1929 will break all records as will steel production, automobile production, freight car loadings, crude oil production, bank clearings, chain store sales, corporate profits and other indications of general business, the survey indicates.

A noteworthy development of the last week has been the apparent culmination of the deflation of stock exchange values with a minimum effect on business and banking accommodations alike.

In past market depressions, the downsizing has invariably been accompanied by widespread banking brokerage and commercial failures with a resultant tightening of credit conditions. The present deflation was accomplished with only two brokerage house failures and no banking fatalities.

Commercial failures during the last week actually decreased, totaling 402, compared with 414 last week and 363 in the same week of last year.

According to most authorities, the reduced purchasing power of the nation through the break in stock values will naturally have an adverse effect on luxury trading. Sales of automobiles, radios, jewelry and other non-essentials will undoubtedly experience a falling off in volume, although this situation is considered temporary.

Steel authorities note some caution in the steel business on account of the stock market break, but cancellations of orders are reported as extremely light.

So far, little diminution is indicated in retail trade. Sales reports of leading chain store organizations set records in October. Any present slack will undoubtedly be taken up in heavy Christmas demand, in the opinion of store executives.

Never before in the history of the country have the banking interests of the nation been called upon to meet a crisis equal in scope to the stock market break. To the credit of the federal reserve system and a number of local bankers, a serious situation was quickly averted and securities liquidation in the easiest possible manner.

While further declines are possible

MacDONALD WAS IMPRESSED BY HERBERT HOOVER

London, Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald has confessed that he was so impressed by the forcefulness of Herbert Hoover in their recent disarmament conversations that he was tempted to exclaim, "Oh, you dear old Quaker!"

Addressing a meeting of fellow laborites at Friends hall last night, MacDonald praised the "power, calm and quiet forcefulness" of the United States executive head and said Hoover's powerful way of furthering argument made him almost smile.

ROBBER BAND CAPTURES TOWN

LOOTS LEISURELY VAULT OF BANK IN VAUGHNSVILLE,
OHIO

Vaughnsville, O., Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—A band of robbers captured this town today, taking full command, severing telephone and telegraphic communications and looting leisurely the large vault of the Peoples Exchange bank. They left town with $5,000.

The robbers patrolled the streets while the work in the vault was under way and Vaughnsville citizens looked on helplessly.

The bandits parked their cars on the outskirts of the village. They then began a systematic invasion of the town. Armed guards were placed at vantage points. Others patrolled the streets.

Sleeping villagers were aroused from their slumber as the vault was blown open. They peered from behind darkened windows. None dared venture into the street, fearful of their lives as the desperadoes openly paraded the streets heavily armed.

IT TOOK A SHOT IN LEG TO GET THIS CANDY MAN MAD

Minneapolis, Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—Alfred Jeppesen wasn't particularly perturbed when a bandit entered his confectionery store and ordered him to hand over the contents of the cash register.

But when the robber shot him in the leg just because Jeppesen didn't move quickly enough, then the confectioner became angry.

Clutching at the injured limb, Jeppesen vaulted a candy counter and chased the obnoxious person from his store.

The loot was $7.

KELLOGG SAILS WEDNESDAY ON LONDON VISIT

St. Paul, Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—Frank B. Kellogg, former secretary of state and author of the Paris peace pact, was enroute to New York today from where he will sail Wednesday for London.

Kellogg will visit Oxford university and will address the pilgrims' dinner in London Nov. 22.

He planned to return here early in December.

In some securities, a decidedly more optimistic feeling is in evidence in most circles and in banking circles it is conceded that "the worst is over."

MRS. LOIS PANTAGES UNDER PROBATION FOR TEN YEARS

DURING THAT TIME MUST NOT DRINK AND MUST OBEY
ALL LAWS

CALIFORNIA WOMAN IS ALSO FORBIDDEN FROM DRIVING
AUTOMOBILE

Los Angeles, Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Lois Pantages, convicted of manslaughter in the death of Juro Rokumoto after an automobile collision, today was under probation for ten years, during which she must not drink, must obey all laws and must not drive an automobile.

Superior Judge Carlos S. Hardy ruled late yesterday that she would not have to go to prison. Addressing himself to the pale woman who lay in a wheel chair before his bench and stressing that her ill health influenced his decision, he added, "Within five days a payment of $78,500 must be made to the estate of Juro Rokumoto and to those other Japanese injured in the crash which took his life."

Higher up in the hall of justice building, the woman's husband, Alexander Pantages, multi-millionaire theater man, was confined to a county jail cell. He was convicted on a charge of attacking Eunice Pringle, 17, when she applied to him for booking, and is awaiting hearing on his motion for a new trial. He faces a sentence of from one to 50 years in San Quentin prison.

ROCHESTER SCHOOL BONDED DEBT EXCEEDS LIMIT

St. Paul, Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—A bonded debt of $502,000 in the Rochester school district, when the legal limit is $15,000, today brought severe criticism to that district by Henry Rines, state comptroller.

With the exception of this criticism and the charge that contracts in excess of $500 were let without competitive bids, the district was given a clean bill.

Minor criticism was directed against Todd county commissioners because they assertedly received from $18 to $30 extra payment for committee work.

TWO RAIL LABORERS KILLED, EIGHT INJURED

Schenectady, N. Y., Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—Two railroad laborers were killed and eight others injured today, one seriously, when a gasoline scooter train on which they were riding was derailed and went into a ditch near Elmore, 4 miles west of Mechanicville.

The dead are Thomas Shaffer and Alonzo Trinattli.

U. S. STEEL UNFILLED ORDERS SHOW INCREASE

New York, Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—United States Steel corporation today reported unfilled orders as of October 31 at 4,086,562 tons, an increase of 183,981 tons over the September 30 total of 3,902,581 tons.

Unfilled orders as of Aug. 31 totalled 3,658,211 tons; as of July 31, 4,088,177 tons and as of Oct. 31, 1928, 3,751,030.

FIREMEN BALK AT RESCUE AND 2 BURN TO DEATH

Los Angeles, Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—While members of the San Gabriel fire department sat on their trucks 900 feet away, Mrs. Ida Ohnsgard and her two-year-old grandson, Arthur Statt, were burned to death last night.

The firemen had been ordered by Chief of Police A. E. Mauger of San Gabriel not to leave the city and refused to render aid at the burning home because it was 900 feet outside of their jurisdiction.

S. F. McNair, owner of the house which was destroyed, received serious burns. His wife leaped through a window to safety carrying Lorna Statt, 3, in her arms. Neighbors carried Mrs. Ohnsgard and Arthur Statt to the street but they died shortly afterwards.

CLAIMS EVIDENCE TO ABSOLVE TOM MOONEY

LABOR ORGANIZER IMPRISONED FOR ALLEGED CONNECTION WITH BOMBING

INMATE OF SOLDIERS HOME AT
DAYTON INTERCEDING; ASKS
SENATOR SCHALL TO AID

Dayton, O., Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—Asserting he can produce evidence absolving Tom Mooney, labor organizer, in connection with the preparedness day parade bombing in San Francisco in 1916, Frank O. Stevens, inmate of the national soldiers home here, has appealed to Senator Thomas Schall, of Minnesota, to help him bring the matter to the attention of federal authorities.

Stevens said he had absolute proof that Louis Smith, of Cleveland, who died in 1922, perpetrated the bombing and confessed on his death-bed that Mooney, who is now in San Quentin prison in California, had nothing to do with it. Stevens said he appealed to Senator Schall after Schall wrote a magazine article on "Why is Mooney imprisoned?"

The aged veteran said Smith's sister, Mrs. George Monroe, who resides on a farm near Bellaire, Ohio, was Smith's confidante and that he (Stevens) recently obtained the information from her.

On seeing Schall's article Stevens said he wrote to the senator telling him of the confession. He had tried to interest others in the case, without result, he said.

Stevens said he could easily obtain affidavits supporting Smith's alleged confession and that Mrs. Monroe had told him she would "willingly" give whatever information was in her possession.

BANDITS OF FAR EAST IN THREATS TO NEW YORKER

Tientsin, China, Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—A band of white Russians, who are holding Aaron Brenner, New York fur dealer for $500,000 ransom, threatened today to do violence to his captive unless the ransom money was paid immediately, police announced.

Joseph Brenner, a brother of Aaron, arrived in Tientsin yesterday. He entered immediately into negotiations with the kidnappers and after learning of the threats of violence announced he would pay the band $50,000 if his brother was released unharmed.

12 SCIENTISTS TO ACCOMPANY THE GRAF ZEPPELIN

Oslo, Norway, Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—Twelve scientists, including three Americans, probably will accompany the Graf Zeppelin expedition to the North Pole next year, it was reported here today.

In addition to the three Americans, and Prof. H. U. Sverdrup, scientific Arctic explorer, who arrived at Tromsø yesterday to oversee preparations for the expedition, the group of scientists would include five Germans and the famous Norwegian Arctic expert, Fridtjof Nansen.

3 INTERNATIONAL FALLS PEOPLE ARE ARRESTED

CARL J. GERLACH, HIS WIFE AND WILBUR SIMMONS
ARE TRIO

CONFESSION MADE, GERLACH IS SENTENCED TO LIFE IM-PRISONMENT

Little Falls, Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—With the arrest of three persons including a man and his wife, Morrison county authorities declared today the $800 robbery of the Cushing Farmers' State Bank on Oct. 22 had been solved.

Those arrested were Carl J. Gerlach, 28, his 21-year-old wife Leona, and Wilbur Simmons, 22, all of International Falls.

The Gerlachs were asserted to have confessed participation in the robbery and division of the loot with their companion. They were apprehended in a vacant Todd county farm house where they revealed they hid since shortly after the robbery.

Simmons was arrested at International Falls and was to be brought here today.

Gerlach was arraigned this afternoon, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to a life term in the state penitentiary.

POLICE HEAD WILL NOT EXECUTE FRIENDLY SQUIRRELS

Chicago, Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—Lake Forest's police chief, Lester Tiffany, shoots Chicago gangsters without compunction whenever they invade his bailiwick, but he draws the line on executing friendly squirrels.

Three of the animals had eaten away one corner of the roof of P. J. Carr's home. He complained and Tiffany appeared with a shotgun. The tiny culprits immediately came out of their hiding places, leaped on the officer's shoulders and began exploring his pockets for nuts.

"I can't kill them," the chief admitted. "These are pets who came to my house daily for food. I'll post a policeman to see that they don't bother you any more."

Today a burly bluecoat paced back and forth before Carr's house shooting off the squirrels whenever they attempted to return to their nests.

CHICAGOANS IN FEAR THEY HAVE BEEN SWINDLED

Chicago, Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—Scores of Chicagoans besieged police headquarters here today, demanding to know whether or not they had been swindled of amounts totaling $500,000 by Louis I. Gottlieb, lawyer, who disappeared Oct. 28.

Assistant state's attorneys investigating Gottlieb's disappearance as well as his financial affairs said indications were the attorney had sold about a half million dollars worth of spurious "second mortgages."

Attorneys representing the missing man and his wife, said Gottlieb had dealt in second mortgages for several years. Apparently, they said, he had duplicates made and sold "second mortgages" on the same property to as many as three and four persons.

DENIES PETITION TO HALT WOODMEN FROM BUSINESS IN STATE

St. Paul, Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—Garfield W. Brown, state insurance commissioner, today denied a petition to halt the Modern Woodmen of America from writing insurance in Minnesota.

The petition was filed by the St. Anthony Hill Camp of the Woodmen in Minneapolis and was based on a state law passed in 1912 that decreed such fraternal organizations should submit proposals for increased insurance rates to a referendum of membership.

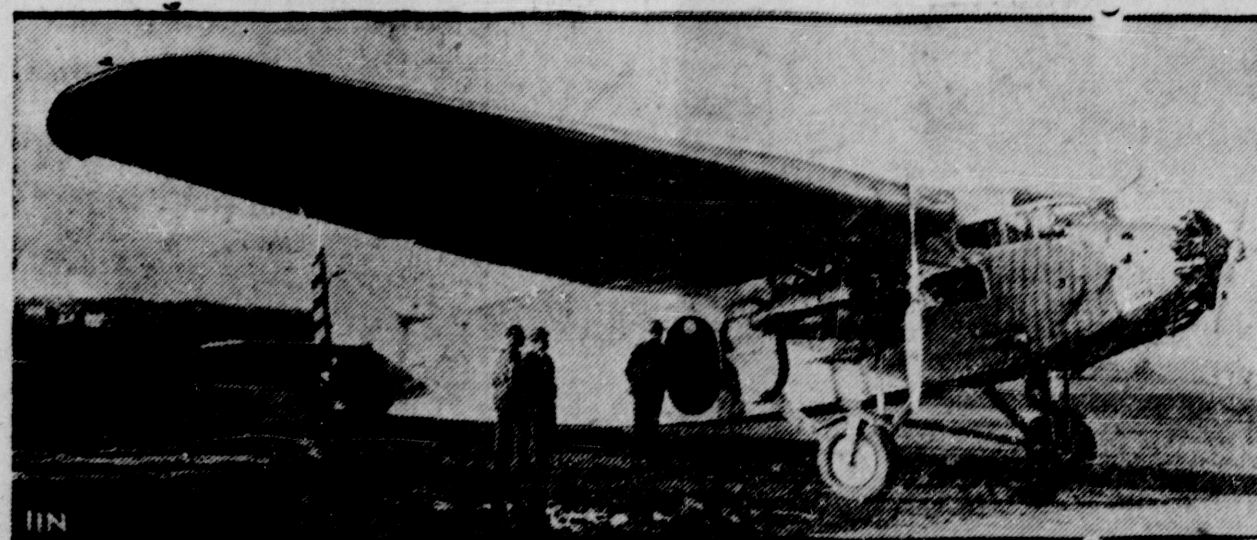

The Minneapolis camp sought to prevent officials of the Woodmen from carrying out a program for increased rates, but Brown held the 1912 law was declared illegal by W. H. Gurnee, a former assistant state attorney general.

AMERICAN DAILY IS BARRED FROM CHINESE MAILS

Shanghai, Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—The American Daily Post, only American daily newspaper in Shanghai, has been barred from the Chinese mails, because of its allegations of corruption and bribery against the department of public safety.

The Post's charges followed what the paper termed "illegitimate collaboration" between the department and striking Chinese employees of the Post.

The Cow and Hen Special

MORE than 25,000 persons, including farmers, merchants and school children, had received instruction at the Northern Pacific's "Cow and Hen Special" when that institution, referred to as a rolling barnyard and agricultural college, had concluded its extended tour of Minnesota and Wisconsin, according to A. J. Dexter, Northern Pacific agricultural agent, who was in charge of the train.

Profits of Minnesota farmers will be increased from $100,000,000 to $150,000,000 annually when they adopt and adhere rigidly to proper feeding and proper selection of cows as taught at this moving college, H. R. Searles, dairy specialist with the extension service of the Minnesota Agricultural College, said at the end of the tour.

The programs included demonstrations on feeding and selection of dairy cattle and poultry, marketing, and a poultry clinic.

Mr. Searles' demonstration utilized four dairy cows, two of them regarded as good cows, and the other two undesirable animals. He showed the results obtained from one good animal and one poor animal well fed, and one good animal and one poor animal poorly fed.

"Dairy farmers never will make more money until they learn modern, practical methods," he said. "They must feed more and make use of the maximum producing ability of their cows. A necessary step is to join cow testing associations and obtain the individual record of each cow."

It was predicted that improvements in breeding, feeding, sanitation, and marketing of dairy animals and products and poultry ultimately should mean millions of dollars to the agricultural interests engaged in those activities. At present Minnesota's poultry annual income is $60,000,000, while the dairy income is $170,000,000, making a total of $230,000,000.

The message of the train was not more cows, more hens, but larger income from each cow and hen. According to F. W. Peck, director of the Minnesota Agricultural College extension service, the major part of the $60,000,000 poultry income is based on an average of six dozen eggs per hen each year. Twelve dozen eggs easily is possible for each hen by use of proper methods. The dairy income is based largely on the production today of an average of 180 pounds of butterfat for each cow. This could be increased to 268 pounds for each cow if each was as good a producer as the cow testing association animals which were utilized on the train.

Evidence of the eagerness of farmers to get further benefits from the train and the message it carried was indicated by the large number of questions asked by those in attendance.

Iowa Leads in New Paving This Year

IOWA, which in years past used to stick in gumbo mud and which held up football caravans for weeks, has emerged from the day of mud and now has the satisfaction of building more paving in 1929 than any other state. It simply goes to show that when people realize the value of permanent highways, of roads good in all seasons of the year, there is no end to the things they will do to pull themselves out of the ruck and mud of old days. Iowa has set an example for Minnesota which never seems to encompass the vision of its master road builder, C. M. Babcock.

Illinois, which for several years has built more miles of pavement per year than any other state, this year dropped to second place, although still far ahead of Iowa in the total completed mileage.

Iowa, according to figures from a Highway Bulletin, has built 765 miles this year. According to literature sent out by the Des Moines Hospitality club, Iowa is building more pavement this year than all New England states; than all Southeastern states; than all Pacific coast and Rocky Mountain states; than Wisconsin, Minnesota, Nebraska, Missouri, Kansas, North and South Dakota combined.

Seventeen states, according to the published figures, are building more than 100 miles of pavement this year. They are: Iowa, 765; Illinois, 632; New York, 537; Pennsylvania, 500; Michigan, 474; Wisconsin, 326; Indiana, 308; Ohio, 279; Tennessee, 226; New Jersey, 222; Louisiana, 214; South Carolina, 184; Oklahoma, 178; Arkansas, 157; North Carolina, 153; Minnesota, 112; Alabama, 106.

This year's construction will bring Iowa's total paved mileage to about 2,400. At the present rate Iowa's program of paving 5,000 miles will be completed in a little more than three years.

Although Wisconsin paved less than half as many miles as Iowa this year, its total is still larger than Iowa's, or about 2,800 miles.

Illogical Voting

THE Wadena Pioneer Journal calls attention to the American voter, who at times does some funny things at the polls. He will vote for a certain candidate for president, because that particular candidate stands for the things in which he believes.

Then he will turn about face and vote for a senator or representative who, he knows, will do anything within his power to keep the presidential nominee from carrying out that program in the event of his election. No wonder we have so much sawing and hee-hawing in Washington. The wonder of it is that we get anywhere at all.

GLADSTONE has said that censure and criticism never hurt anybody, but any one knows they cause a lot of trouble. "If false," says Gladstone, "they cannot harm you, unless you are wanting in character; and if true, they show a man his weak points, and forewarn him against failure and trouble."

OSLO, Norway, wants to go on a cash basis. The Norwegian Union and Oslo tradesmen's associations are actively campaigning for cash trading and have ordered three and a half million boxes of matches bearing mottoes and phrases advocating cash payments.

TARIFF is frequently a sectional matter and it is difficult to take up glasses adjusted to a national focus.

America's answer to humanity's challenge

AID FOR VETERANS IS RED CROSS PLEDGE

Service and Ex-Service Men Are Helped in All Problems.

Service to World War veterans in hospital, for able-bodied veterans, and for dependent families of both called for expenditures of $738,000 by the American Red Cross during the year just ended. In addition, Red Cross Chapters spent $1,963,000 in veteran relief, and also for men still in service.

Although eleven years have passed since the Armistice, there remain 25,500 disabled and sick veterans of the World War in hospitals, and the peak of the number who will require hospitalization is not expected by Veterans Bureau authorities to be reached until 1947. For these men, the Red Cross must continue its service of providing recreation and comforts, according to James L. Fieser, vice chairman of the Red Cross.

"Under its Charter from Congress, the Red Cross is required to maintain service for veterans of wars and for the men still in the service," Mr. Fieser said. "The funds for this work come from the annual roll call membership fees. In addition to the sum spent in maintaining contact with the veterans, the Red Cross expended $308,000 in its service to the men still in the regular Army, Navy and Marine Corps. The society and a majority of its 3,500 chapters handle claims for these men for insurance, compensation and other benefits they are entitled to under the law, and also where necessary arrange to provide for dependents of the men."

"Red Cross workers are maintained in forty-eight Veterans Bureau Hospitals, as well as in all regular Army and Navy hospitals, whose duty it is to supervise recreational facilities for the patients, and to provide small comforts. In the Army and Navy Hospitals, the workers also do social service for the patients. These tasks also are performed at all Army Posts and Navy Ports by Red Cross workers, and in addition Red Cross representatives to handle claims are established at the majority of Veterans Bureau regional offices."

Mr. Fieser urged that all citizens enroll in the Roll Call, from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day, November 11 to 28, in order to aid in supporting this work.

AIRPLANES DROP TONS OF FOOD DURING FLOOD

Army, Navy and Alabama National Guard airplanes delivered twenty-five tons of supplies furnished by the American Red Cross to flood refugees who were completely cut off from any other aid, during the serious floods in four southeastern States early this spring.

The three services made an average of fifty flights a day, delivering medicine, food, clothing and blankets. Most of the supplies were dropped to the refugees who were isolated on hill tops and high ground, by the flood waters.

Naval aviators made a total of 115 flights during the flood period, embracing 15,000 miles. Observation planes also reported by radio where marooned refugees could be located, and a magnificent program of co-operation with the Red Cross relief forces was carried forward by all three aviation services.

RED CROSS EXPENDS EIGHT MILLIONS FOR RELIEF IN DISASTER

Year Just Closed Put Heavy Task on Society—120 Calls for Help Were Met.

An unusually large number of disasters in the United States and its insular possessions have required assistance from the American Red Cross during the year just closed. The organization sent emergency relief workers to the scenes of 120 tornadoes, floods, fires and other types of catastrophes and expended $8,020,000 in relief and rehabilitation of the victims.

Calls for aid came from eleven other nations in which earthquakes, floods and other problems caused distress to large populations, and the Red Cross sent $76,500 to help in relieving the suffering.

The catastrophe causing the greatest loss of life and most widespread devastation was the West Indies hurricane of September, 1928, in which more than 2,000 lives were lost in Florida, Porto Rico and the Virgin Islands. A relief fund of $5,883,725.62 was contributed by the public, following a proclamation by the President of the United States, to which the Red Cross added $50,000 from its own treasury, and the society was enabled to give relief to more than 700,000 persons.

In the early Spring, river floods in the southeastern states cost a heavy loss to many persons, 76,000 inhabitants being affected in four states. The Red Cross assisted 4,383 families, approximately 28,000 persons, with food, clothing, temporary housing, feed for stock and seed for replanting.

In all, thirty-eight states were visited by calamities during the year, affecting 364 counties. Twenty-eight counties were devastated twice by storms, fires and floods.

Red Cross expended $434,000 from its treasury in giving relief in these disasters, and at one time had as many as 120 disaster relief workers, nurses and other representatives in the field.

Funds for this relief work are obtained in the annual roll call for members, which occurs from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day, November 11 to 28. Only once a year—during this period of Roll Call—does the Red Cross ask public support to carry on its many activities.

NURSES ENROLLED WITH RED CROSS FOR SERVICE

Enrolled with the Nursing Service of the American Red Cross at Washington are 49,000 nurses, qualified under the society's regulations, who may be summoned to service in time of disaster or other emergency. From the Red Cross enrollment were assigned 20,000 nurses in the World War. These Red Cross nurses are the standing reserve of the Army and Navy Nurse Corps of the United States, and are also called upon for service in other governmental health services.

Little St. Eustatius Island in the Dutch West Indies gave refuge to American ships during the Revolution. The hurricane of last September struck the island, causing heavy loss. The American Red Cross was glad to send a small cash relief fund in remembrance of the historic friendship of the island folk for this republic.

Minnesota opening last quarter made touchdown and point after touchdown.

Iowa Stadium, Iowa City, Iowa, Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—Before a record breaking throng of 40,000 Iowa and Minnesota took the field today in a game which will go far in deciding the western conference title.

Perfect weather prevailed:

The line-ups:
Minnesota—Tanner, re; Langenberg, rt; Kakeia, rg; Oja, c; Pulkabeck, lg; Munn, lt; Anderson, le; Brownell, qb; Pharrner, lb; Brockmeyer, rh; Nagurski, fb.

Iowa—Reedquist, re; Ely, rt; Meyers, rg; Magnussen, c; Roberts, lg; R. Westra, lt; Rogge, le; Pignatelli, qb; Farroh, lb; Glasgow, rh; Haggerty, fb.

FIRST QUARTER
Brockmeyer kicked off for Minnesota but the ball rolled outside and was called back. On the second attempt Farroh received and returned to the 35-yard line. Glasgow got away on the first play for nine yards and on the next made it first down on the 50-yard line. Glasgow again broke through for 10 but the ball was called back. With Glasgow leading, Iowa made five consecutive first downs. A pass, Glasgow to Pape, placed the ball on the Minnesota 7-yard line. After futile attempts to gain Glasgow dropped back and place-kicked for three points from the 16-yard line. Westra picked off over Minnesota's goal line. Minnesota made five yards on one Iowa penalty, then lost two and punted. Glasgow carried the ball back to the 50-yard line.

Iowa pulled a surprise punt to Minnesota's 5-yard line. After failing to gain, Brockmeyer punted to Glasgow who ran out of bounds on the Minnesota 40-yard line. The Gophers were penalized 15 yards for tackling out of bounds, giving Iowa the ball on the enemy 26-yard mark. On the fourth down, Glasgow carried the ball to the Minnesota 2-yard line. Glasgow and Haggerty carried the ball to the one-foot line as the quarter ended. Score: Minnesota, 0; Iowa, 3.

SECOND QUARTER
Iowa lost the ball on downs and Minnesota punted to Glasgow on the 4-yard line. But the latter dropped it and the pigskin was recovered by Nagurski. A fifteen yard penalty on the play gave Minnesota the ball on Iowa's 30-yard line. Minnesota lost three and Brockmeyer was taken out because of injuries. The Gophers could not gain and lost the ball on downs on the Iowa 31-yard line. Glasgow pulled a surprise punt to the Minnesota 27-yard line.

Again Minnesota could not gain and punted to Glasgow on his 35-yard line. Munn was injured and taken out when he tried to stop Glasgow's return.

Iowa advanced nine yards and chose to punt, the ball rolling out on the Minnesota 25-yard line.

FOOTBALL LOYALTY WAS TOO STRONG FOR HIS HEART

Jasonville, Ind., Nov. 9.—(U.P.)—A high school youth whose loyalty was too strong for his heart, brought the football game between Jasonville and Greencastle football teams to a tragic end here last night.

Charles Haymer, 17, Greencastle guard, fell dead of heart disease as he walked from the field at the end of the first half. The game was stopped.

Jasonville was leading 7 to 0 at the time.

Haymer was the son of Mrs. Tullis Haymer, widow.

Bronko Nagurski, senior fullback from International Falls. Many critics have called the Bronk the finest all-around football player in the game today.

Win Brockmeyer, of Mankato, Minn., a fast, weaving runner, a deadly punter and a strong defense man. Brockmeyer has another year at half-back.

Paul Kirk, East Grand Forks, is one of the speed fiends of the Minnesota backfield. Kirk has repeatedly done what was needed when it was needed most.

BRAINERD'S ODDEST STORY OF TODAY

Mrs. Joseph Midgley believes in being kind to the little wood folk at her summer home at Pine Knott, north of Merrifield. Mrs. Midgley keeps a supply of peanuts for the chipmunks which are so friendly that they climb her shoulder and eat from her hand. When she gives a special call of her own which they all understand, as many as six at a time come running from the different parts of the woods, and will take as many as a half dozen peanuts at one time from her hand, storing them in their jaws, before scurrying away to hide them in the woods. At times they will even push each other away in order to get closer to her.

Truth About Shellac

Shellac is a product of animal life, the exudations of myriads of tiny red insects which swarm on tree branches, feed, propagate and die, and not the sap of the lac tree as commonly supposed, according to a writer in the New York Times. In the valleys of India and Siam are groves of trees whose sap provides to these insects the feast of death.

The Dread Injury Jinx

By HARDIN BURNLEY

INJURIES—
THE NEMESIS
OF GRID STARS
—FEW ESCAPE
ITS CLUTCHES!

"Bullet"
BRUDER

NORTHWESTERN'S GREAT TRIPLE-THREAT WHOSE
ALL-AMERICA HOPES WERE BLASTED BY A BROKEN LEG THIS YEAR!

THE

BRUDER of Northwestern and Glasgow of Iowa were among the early season football casualties that were serious indeed from the standpoint of team prospects. The Northwestern backfield ace broke a leg while in plying through the Wisconsin line on October 12, while, on the previous Saturday, Glasgow fractured his left cheekbone in a scrimmage with Monmouth. The great Iowa halfback, his face protected with a special guard, has since returned to the game, but Bruder is out for the rest of the season. These casualties dimmed the championship chances of their teams.

Beyond normal human consideration for the suffering entailed, injuries that put stars out of the game are the chief terrors of coaches and team enthusiasts. Little injuries like a wrenched ankle, a pulled tendon, the fracture of a small bone in foot or hand, a dislocated shoulder, etc., often extinguish the brightest star at the most unexpected moments and in the most surprising way.

As a potential great in his junior year at Yale, Bruce Caldwell was watching a team-mate tackle the dummy. The husky missed the big bug and crashed into Caldwell's ankles. The latter was badly crippled for months but the next season he did prove a star.

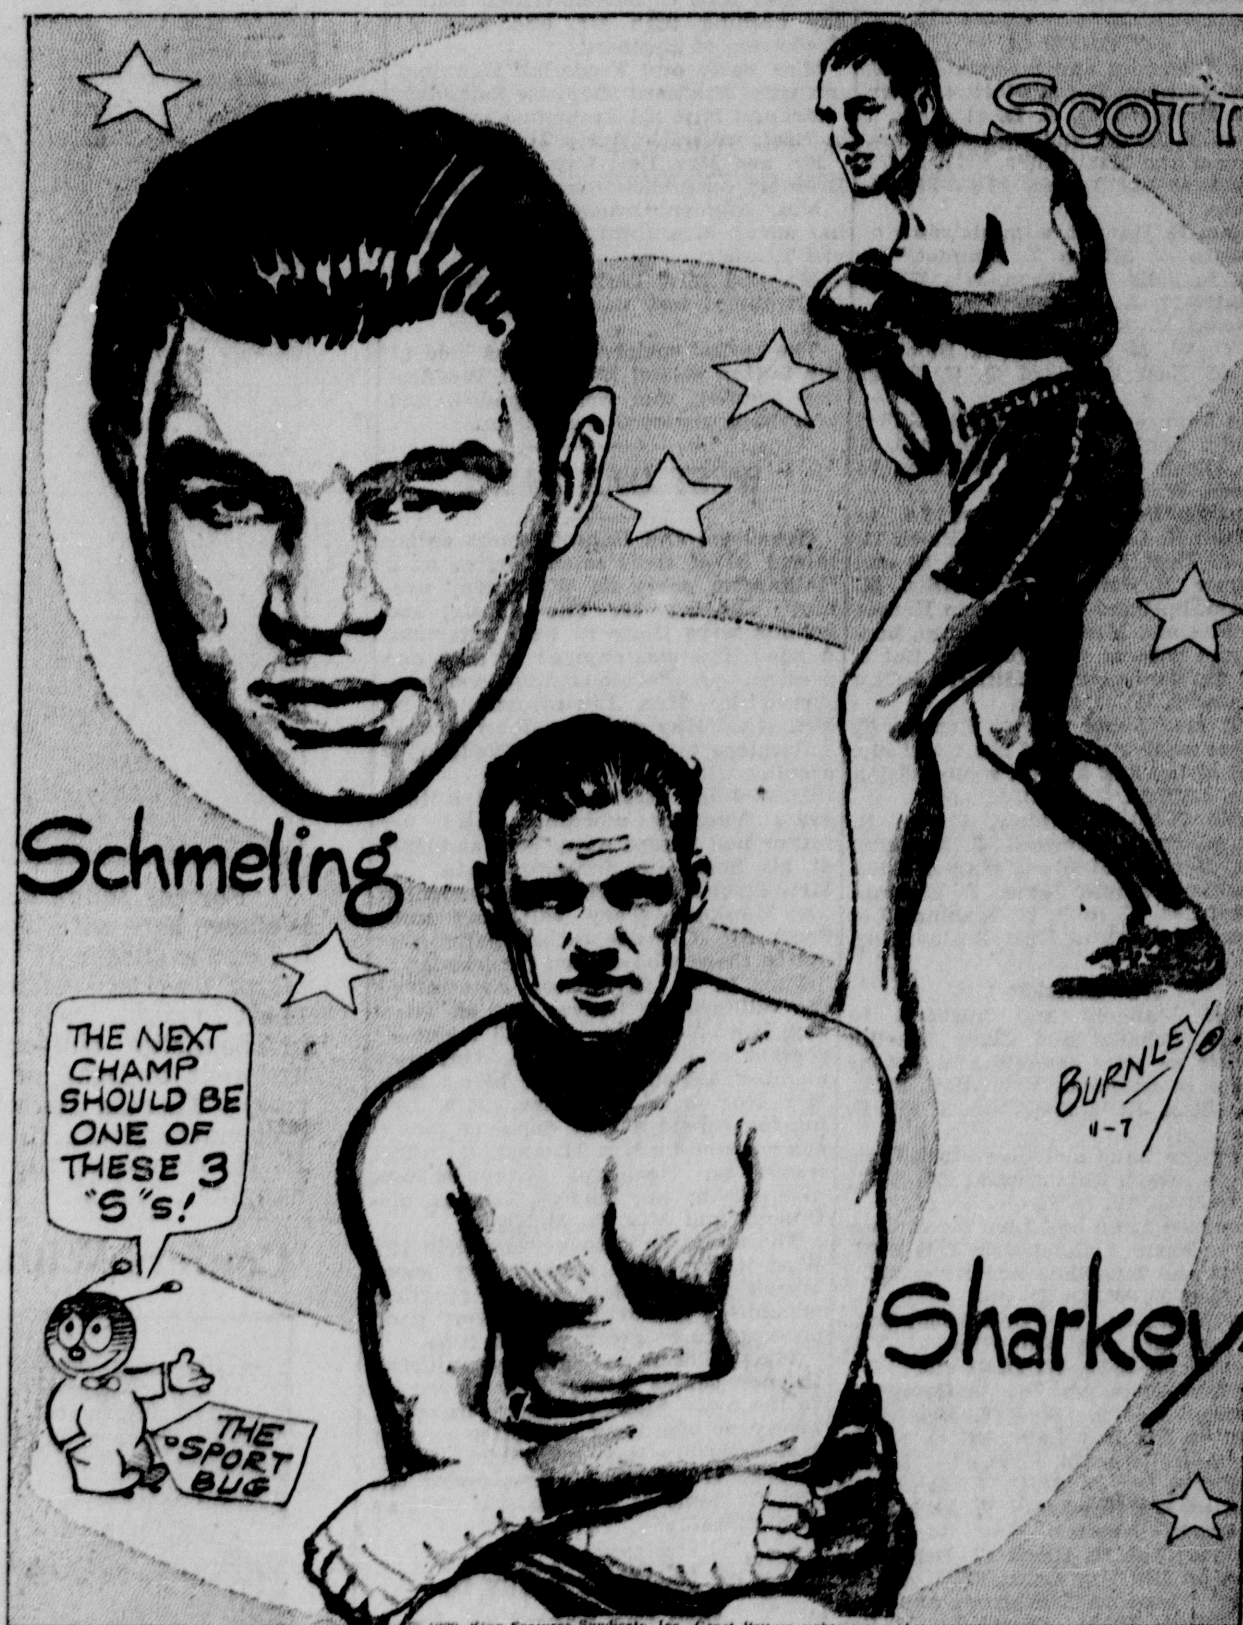

"Tiny" Hewitt, of Pittsburgh and Army fame appeared to be as tough as they make huge men, but he was frequently hobbled by minor injuries usually received in practice.

Princeton's great "Jake" Slagle in his senior year and at the zenith of his grid prowess hurt his leg while climbing a rocky ledge on a hike with a geology class. He was fixed up well enough to dazzle Harvard, but the following week his leg grew worse and he had to sit on the sidelines during the last game of his career, the big event with Yale!

Injuries certainly constitute the Nemesis of ambitious coaches and teams.

"S" Stands for Sock

By HARDIN BURNLEY

SCHARKEY, Schmeling, Scott, Schaff, Stribling, etc. Never has the letter "S" been so prominent in the heavyweight fight news since John L. Sullivan lorded it over all fastiana. Of course, there are two other big boys with eyes on Gene Tunney's old crown who do not come in that whimsical "S" category, but it does not look as though dusky George Godfrey will ever get a shot at the title, and "Tuffy" Griffith will probably have to whip at least two of those "S's" before reaching a championship bout.

Right now the big business men of boxing are planning two or three big shows to be held at Miami this winter, but the Sport Bug is inclined to believe that these preparations will culminate ultimately in one great event, probably that much-mooted Sharkey-Schmeling duel. Two lesser heavy bouts may also be staged in which Scott, Stribling and Griffith are likely to figure. But the big shot must be a Sharkey-Schmeling show. It is the only card that figures to draw a big business gate.

True it is that grim obstacles seem to stand in the way of that Sharkey-Schmeling natural. The latter and his pari-mutuel managers are on the blacklist of Madison Square Garden and, so far, the latter institution is boxing's only big business outfit. Frank J. Bruen, astute general manager of the Garden, has made it clear that his organization will have nothing to do with Joe Jacobs, Schmeling's favorite among those who own "pieces" in his management.

Bruen claims Jacobs "broke his word" with the former, and while such suspicions and situations are not uncommon in ring racketeering, the keen-eyed boss of the Garden is death on double-dealing or anything that savors of what the fans call "phenagling." With Schmeling supporting Jacobs and Bruen exhorting "Fieccful Joe," it is hard just now to see how the German can appear under Winter auspices in Florida next winter, but—

The news comes that George Carter, of Miami pier and dog track fame, will rival the Garden as a boxing promoter in Florida. He is reported to have signed Schmeling for an American bout next winter. Now the Garden has Sharkey sewed up and Carter has the German magnet. A war of promoters coming? Perhaps—if Carter and Bruen are not old pals as they have been for many years past!

About No Brainerd Student on University Homecoming Committees

Brainerd, Minn., Nov. 8, 1929.
Editor of The Brainerd Dispatch:

When I read your recent editorial commenting on the fact that no Brainerd student was placed on the University Homecoming Committees, though Brainerd has many students at the University and a large number of alumni in its midst, it occurred to me that, for obvious reasons, the geographical origin of the students could not possibly be a factor in their selection for such committee work, but in order to be able to write you definitely, I took the matter up with the authorities of the University in Minneapolis and am able to advise you as follows:

Committees appointed covering such affairs as Homecoming are selected by the student body, through their student council, without reference to the official administration. You will remember that a Brainerd student is a member of this council, which is greatly to his credit and to the honor of Brainerd. Primarily and ideally, this selection is made of outstanding men who can spare the time and can act as leaders and give promise of dependability and responsibility, irrespective of locality. The administration is interested in the appointments solely on the basis of those who can best represent general interests on the campus and give promise of rendering efficient service. Non-selection is never a reflection on any student. Many students are busy with their own affairs and have not taken any interest in the student activities which would cause them to be considered for such committee work. Other exceptionally strong students are interested in other interests on the campus which would be unrelated to the particular work you have in mind. Of 175 students selected out of some 11,000, it is not strange that one should have come from Brainerd, though another year, depending on the student and not the place, the reverse might be the case. If Brainerd does not happen to have a representative on these committees this year (and there must be many other places in the same category) I am assured it is not significant whatsoever of any disregard of Brainerd. It simply means that the place from which a student hails does not and cannot enter into the committee selections.

Faithfully yours,
W. H. GEMMELL.

MAN BEATEN ON STEPS OF RIVERSIDE SCHOOL

Judge Warner Severely Reprimands Bill Hyatt for Assaulting S. L. Anderson

FINED $100 OR 60 DAYS

Brutal Attack Followed Request by P. T. A. Member for Quietness by Boys

"I wanted to show him he couldn't run me," Bill Hyatt, overgrown farmer boy of 19 years, told Judge J. H. Warner in municipal court this morning as his reason for beating up S. L. Anderson, West Brainerd, on the steps of the Riverside school last night after a meeting of the Riverside P. T. A.

Hyatt who gave his home as Pillager but who works on a farm near Brainerd was severely reprimanded by Judge Warner for his brutish methods after he found him guilty of assault in the third degree.

"The time is passed for anybody to try and carry out roughneck stuff. The sooner you learn that the better it will be for you. This is no mere scrap of the street but one of going into a school and making a disturbance. If there was a work house in this county I certainly would give you 60 days at hard labor," said Judge Warner as he found Hyatt guilty and sentenced him to pay a fine of $100 or 60 days.

The assault resulted from Mr. Anderson's request to Hyatt and a number of boys in the hall of the school for quietness while the P. T. A. meeting was being held.

Mr. Anderson told the court that when noises in the hall became so loud it disturbed the meeting he told Hyatt and the boys they would have to stop and when the disturbance persisted he told the boys that unless it stopped immediately they would have to leave.

"When I came out of the meeting, Hyatt was waiting for me. He invited me to come down the steps and when I failed to do that he came up the steps and struck me," said Mr. Anderson.

Mr. Anderson's eye was cut and discolored. He told the court that Hyatt struck him several times and even hit him after he had been knocked down on the concrete platform of the steps. He said he acted with authority when requesting the boys to stop making a disturbance as he was a member of the program committee that evening.

Hyatt told the court that he was not one of the boys making the disturbance and that he had come to the school to hear the program. When questioned why he did not go in the meeting room he said his clothes were not good enough.

"I waited for Si after the meeting," Hyatt told the court. "I wanted to fight him because I wanted to show him he couldn't run me. I invited him down from the steps to the ground and then I went up the steps to him. He struck me on the side of the face."

"It would be a serious situation in this city if meetings could not be conducted without police protection. Mr. Anderson is to be complimented for trying to bring about a peaceful meeting. The citizen who is trying to do his duty as a citizen should receive full protection from the court," said City Attorney D. H. Fullerton in requesting punishment for the offense.

WILLING OAK LEAVES

Were Entertained on November 5 at Home of Mrs. T. L. Livingston

The Willing Oak Leaves were entertained at the home of Mrs. T. L. Livingston, on Tuesday, November 5. This was the second group meeting for the Home Management Project, and subject matter regarding Healthful Kitchens was efficiently discussed by the leaders, Mrs. Geo. McKay and Mrs. Laurence McCullough.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. C. H. Kylo, club president. Sixteen members answered to roll call by stating the benefits derived from the first lesson and how many others had benefited by same. Each member had passed on the helpful suggestions to at least two other women. If every club member in the county does likewise it will help further the aim of Extension Service, which is to reach every American home and make it a happier more contented place to live in.

After singing "America The Beautiful," "Minnesota" by Howard Everett, was read by Mrs. Geo. McKay.

Discussion of the lesson followed, how to promote healthful working conditions through proper light, ventilation, water systems, and proper disposal of wastes.

Mrs. Laurence McCullough discussed lights, both natural and artificial. It was a surprise to every member to learn that the glass or window area of a kitchen should be equal to one-fourth the floor area. She also explained ventilation and types of ventilators. A ventilating screen that she had made to illustrate the point was passed around for inspection. Working heights, how they affect the worker by causing fatigue if improper, were also explained and ways of adjusting same.

Mrs. Geo. McKay explained the part of the lesson that dealt with water systems and disposal of wastes. Drawings had been made by her of the pitcher pump system, force pump system, and hot and cold water system. These were passed around and each one thoroughly explained with details as to cost of installing.

One member joined the club, Mrs. Roy Norton. Three visitors were present and got the benefit of the lesson. At the close of the business meeting, a social hour and a delicious chicken dinner were enjoyed by all. The rooms had also been decorated in Halloween colors making the occasion a very festive one for which the club members feel indebted to Mrs. T. L. Livingston, the hostess. The next meeting with instructions on Convenient Kitchens will be held at the home of Mrs. Wm. Ostby on Tuesday, December 10.

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

John Sloan, young New York attorney, is called into the office of the firm's senior partner and informed that he is to handle the affairs of "Happy Jack" Van Slaick, wealthy sportsman, who has died suddenly leaving only an abandoned Long Island estate, The Firs, and memories of a wiped-out fortune to his beautiful young daughter, Nathalie. As the lawyers discuss this crisis, Miss Van Slaick arrives from Europe. The senior law partner tells her of her financial position and that her only chance to obtain money is through young Sloan's handling of the Long Island estate. Nathalie courageously tells them she will go at once to a rich relative. Instead, Nathalie goes to the Waldorf Hotel, where she is received with the courtesy and attention accorded her family name, which had formerly meant untold millions. Her spirits are low as she passes a check for $25, the last of her bank account. She takes the train for Southampton to her aunt's, the wealthy and shrewd Mrs. Pemberton Swayne. At dinner, Nathalie sits next to Captain Ramon Stefano, a handsome Argentine sportsman, supposedly wealthy. His attentions to Nathalie incur Mrs. Swayne's displeasure, as she wishes him to marry her daughter. Mrs. Swayne coldly informs Nathalie there is no room for her there.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.)

CHAPTER V.

WHEN she reached the city, leaden-footed with weariness, she took a taxicab to the Waldorf and, going to the room she still had there, had some breakfast brought to her and a copy of the Social Register, which would contain the private telephone numbers of the country houses of her kin.

One by one she called them up. In all but two cases servants answered to say that their masters or mistresses were visiting or traveling or aboard yachts. Of the two who answered personally, one, talking from Bar Harbor, said that she would be delighted to see Nathalie "in a couple of weeks dear, after I return from a trip I am leaving on today and simply must make." The other, speaking from Rhinebeck, assured Nathalie that Rhinebeck was "dreadful" in early Autumn; "so sultry—we can hardly endure it. In a month from now it will be of course be glorious. You must spend a few days with us then."

Nathalie closed her eyes and tried to think of some other way to turn. Her residence abroad for more than five years had left her without girl friends in America. She thought of Lord Winston and began to compose a cablegram to him—then remembered that he had told her he and Lady Winston were starting for South Africa just after she left London. Then, with a gasp of relief, she thought of John Sloan.

His words came back to her: "If you should find you need money, or assistance of any kind, telephone me without delay. It is your right as a client of our firm."

Her hands trembled as she found the name of his law firm in the telephone book and called the number. He would be her last chance. She had comprehended his polite phrase, "as a client of the firm" and knew that he wished to convey that it was himself who was at her disposal if she should call on him.

A voice at the other end of the telephone answered the call she had put in.

"Mr. Sloan? I am sorry, madam. He left for Washington last night and will be away a week, possibly ten days. No, none of the members of the firm are in today. They do not come to the office on Saturdays."

Nathalie had courage—in ordinary circumstances unlimited courage. It was in her blood as an inheritance from her dashing father, and both from him and the spirited company he always kept she had learned to hold it as an article of faith. But she was in a state of bodily weariness that bordered on collapse, and in a whirl of mind which blinded her to the fact that to save her pride her relatives would have to arrange among them to take care of her. She could focus her mind on only one phase of her situation—that she was alone in a hotel and virtually without money. All her life she had been surrounded by money—seen it spent readily and gaily, bets made, checks drawn.

One by one she called them up.

She almost sprang from the chair in which she half lay, her hands clasped before her eyes. Going swiftly to her handbag she got out her pocket check book, opened it on the writing desk beside her, and filled and signed a check for five hundred dollars.

"Aunt Olivia will have to pay it," she said aloud. "I will manage some time to pay her back."

Her hand was steady as she wrote. She was steady herself as she glanced in her mirror and put on her hat and went downstairs.

She went straight to the main desk and had a swift thrill of gratification when she saw behind the man who had told her yesterday that the hotel would accept her check for any amount.

He greeted her pleasantly as he took the check and barely glanced at it.

"How would you like the money, Miss Van Slaick? Will three one hundred dollar bills, a hundred in twenties, and the balance in tens and fives be all right?"

Nathalie took the money and casually as he passed it across to her, said that she might be away for another several days, and left the hotel.

But she was like someone in a trance as she stepped into a taxicab at the main door. She did not see, as the cab drove away, the man who was close behind her and had meant to speak to her, but who had hesitated and then turned back into the hotel when he saw the look on her face as she closed the taxi door. It was John Sloan.

He had been standing only a few feet from her when she cashed her check and had noted that the amount she received was much in excess of the amount he knew she had in the bank. Going back to the desk immediately after he had seen her driven away he made himself known.

"Miss Van Slaick's affairs are in the hands of our firm and I am personally in charge of them. She has two bank accounts—one containing a very large sum and one an insignificant sum. She told me just now she had given you a check—"
